Abstract

The article is devoted to the topical issue — the place of a human in the modern market relations system. We pay our attention to the interconnection of various market relations and consider the theoretical basis on this issue. Moreover, we singled out the characteristic features of the approaches used earlier to assess the role of a human in the system of economics, and identified the model used at present.

Keywords

Human behavior, economic relations, the Adam Smith model, Marxism, Keynesianism, the Western model
